Dear Edna -
Hello math major.
Well here we are at the close of another year with Mr. Brown.
It seems we always get that guy.
Lots of luck & see you next year.
Tom Shibles

Dear Edna,
Well, kiddo, looks like you'll have to keep up the tradition in our Sapphane Section
next year. It's been loads of fun "tooting" with you & I'll miss it next year. Good luck & lots of success.

Dear Edna,
Even though our washing wasn't all systematic,
we inevitably got the clothes
clean anyway.
I hope you have a very nice summer and
I'll see you next fall.
Esther

Dear Edna,

well two years have passed and you are still alive after living with me. Thank you for being my friend, buddy and counselor and also for your shoulder to cry on.

This year has been quite a mix-up in my life and I hope you do not live such a time in your last year. But, I am sure you will have a lot of luck in student teaching and all that you do.

Remember the good old days with Dolores and Joyce & then Marilyn and Betty and even Margo and Langony!!

Also keep the Lutheran club in line and let me know how everything comes along.

May God be with you and may your life be happy.

When Wink and I finally make wedding plans I want you to be there with bells on!!

Be good and remember me.

FOREWORD

Buildings are the yardsticks of progress. The story of their changing functions and designs is one of struggle and aspiration, stretching from the stately temples of the Greeks and the vaulted cathedrals of medieval times to the long, sleek structures of today. The changes have been gradual but decided.

Our own campus is now going through a period of concentrated physical change — small in comparison with the great architectural developments of history but indicative of progress nevertheless. Only foresight and patience can make our dreams of a more functional, more attractive campus come true.

— THE STAFF

—OLD AND NEW—

Since its founding in 1857, ISNU has employed the services of Old Main, the first building on campus, through the years adding building after building as the school expanded in both curricula and physical size.

Today, after nearly a century of progress, the campus has grown to a point where twenty buildings are used six days a week in order to train teachers. With an eye cast toward the future, administrators of the building program will realize an important mark with the opening of two new residence halls in September.

President R. W. Fairchild

With plans being drawn for new buildings, contracts being let for others, still others under construction, and some having been dedicated during the current school year, it would seem that the INDEX staff has made an excellent and a logical decision in having our 1951 yearbook centered around a building theme. One becomes quite building conscious by being on the campus of Illinois State Normal University for even a very short period of time and those here throughout the year have adapted themselves to movement around the campus in conformity with construction activities. Even the necessity of dodging grading operations and earth moving equipment and using temporary walks while others are being constructed has become a common experience of students and faculty.

Although of necessity there has been great emphasis upon the planning and construction of buildings, the conclusion should not be drawn that the materialistic aspect is representative of the teacher education program at I.S.N.U. It is very true that the greatest single handicap in the progress of Illinois State Normal University has been and still is the great shortage of housing for students in the community, as well as a limited physical plant to provide for carrying on classroom, laboratory, and similar activities of the instructional program. It has always been possible to get staff and equipment and to attract students but where to put people and materials has constituted a major problem.

Even though the current building program has involved an expenditure, under the high cost of construction, of $6,500,000.00, there remain many actual building needs for a satisfactory furtherance of the work at I.S.N.U. The construction of new elementary and high school buildings, the completion of the west wing of the Special Education Building, the building of a much-needed auditorium that will not only meet present demands but will permit construction of additional quarters for the art and home economics departments where the present auditorium is located, the building of the long-proposed music and speech buildings in the area of the present Administration Building, the expansion of the physical education plant in the nature of a new gymnasium and field house in the area now occupied by the veterans' housing, a new building for business education, and an enlargement of the industrial arts building, all constitute early needs for new buildings. Possibly the one greatest need that would make a decided change in the life of the University is the construction of the student center or student union. It is hoped that this may be undertaken as a self-liquidating activity similar to that being carried out in the construction of new residence halls, a type of building that will be carried further as demands indicate.

Yes, Illinois State Normal University is expanding now in its physical plant to meet the great demands for teachers and building construction will be a constant theme of the University for some time to come.

R. W. Fairchild

The only one of its kind in the world, dedicated especially to the field, the 1951 Special Education Building marks another phase of the building construction program under way.

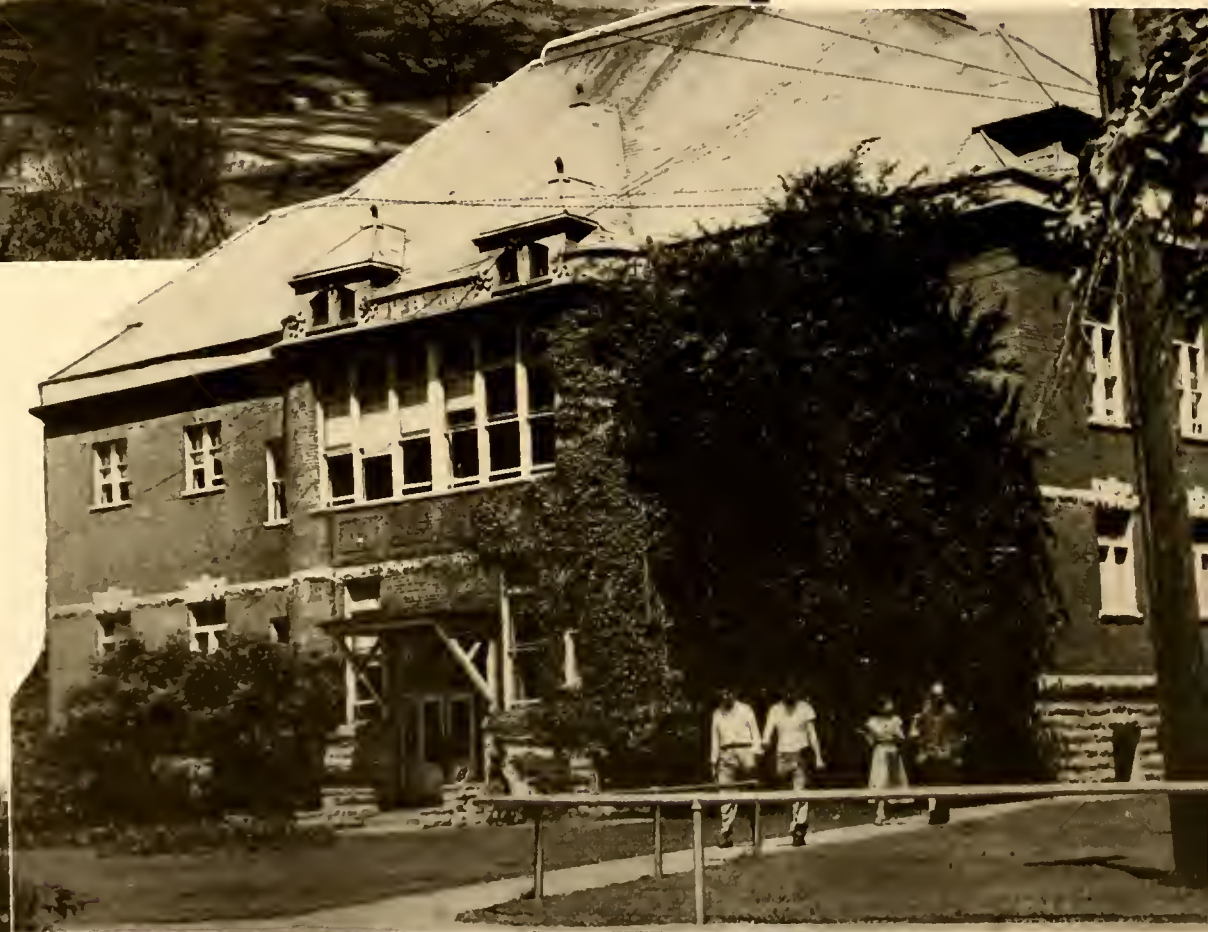

They'll be done, sure as shootin', by next September, and ready to house 156 men students in one, an equal number of women students in the other. The new residence halls will greatly relieve off-campus housing woes of the students.

It's new, it's full of lounges, it's got a temperamental elevator — it's the Administration building. Added to the campus permanent fixtures last September, this is the hub of administrative action.

Old, old, old, Old Main. Yet there she stands—decapitated. Still sentimentally the center of campus activity, Old Main's Four Corners is the keystone for spigoting news flashes, notices, and announcements.

Housing chiefly English and geography classes, North Hall is home for the Vidette and Index offices. Showing old age by such signs as a leaking roof and a flooded basement, the hall had a face-lifting via a thorough paint job this spring.

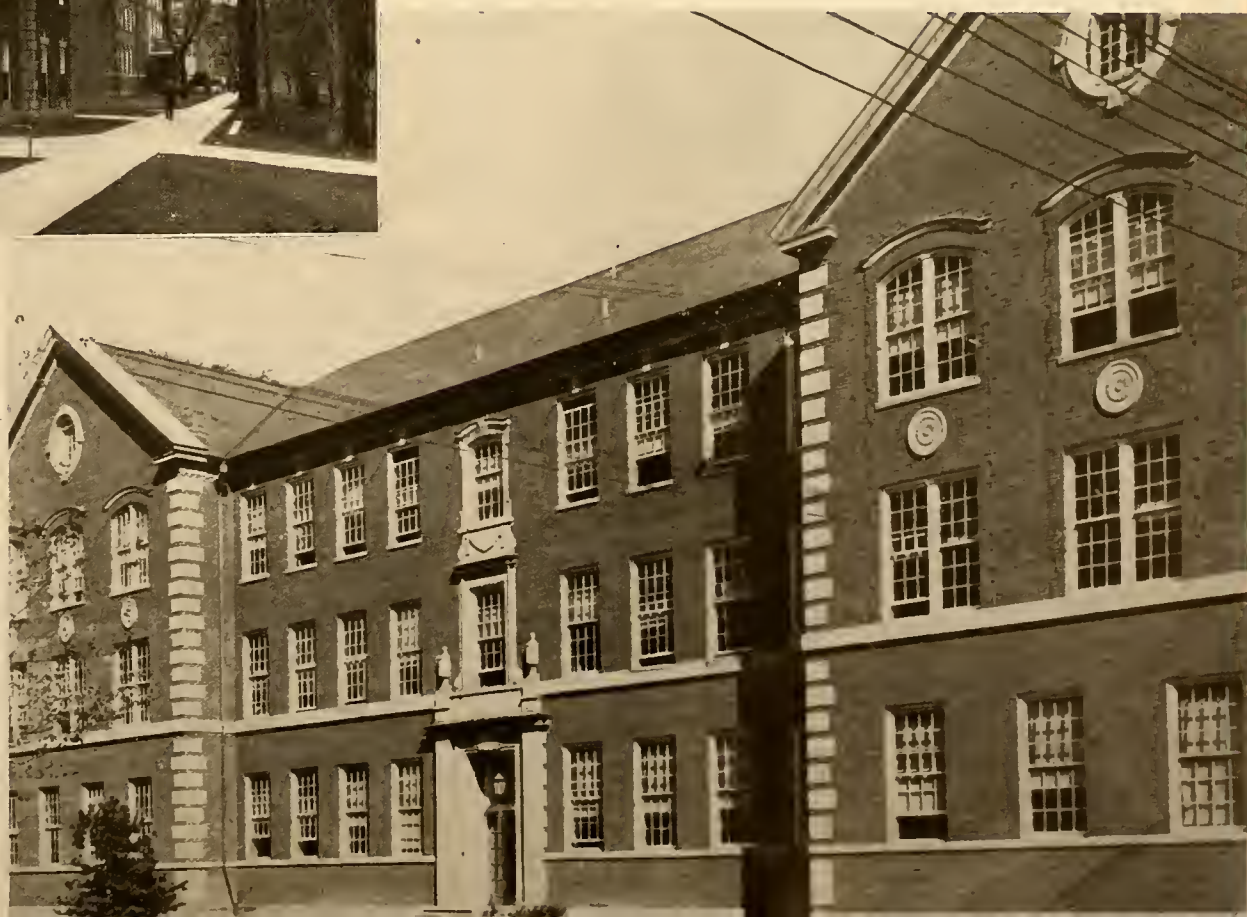

Perhaps it will bring nostalgia or nausea to the minds of graduates in a decade. At the present Metcalf is student teaching headquarters for university students practicing in elementary and secondary levels.

Bang, crash, thud in the basement means IA classes are in order. Upstairs, the Industrial Arts building is the site of Capen auditorium, scene of virtually all entertainment.

One's first glance meets the trophy case. Naturally, the remaining rooms hold lockers, showers, and gymnasiums. McCormick is home far bath departments of men's and women's physical education.

H_2SO_4 is understood by all occupants of the Science Building. Housing classes strictly for which it was built, Felmley Hall of Science quarters the cadavers on the top deck.

A governor's whim brought Cook Hall. For diverse endeavors, the hall is scene of a gym, music practice rooms, and business education classrooms.

What they have in the stacks remains a mystery; however, statistics reveal Milner Library will accommodate 225,000 volumes. In addition to reading facilities, the library houses the much-used Carnegie music room.

"We learn by doing," and so they do. Home Management house is residence for home economics seniors who live, eat, and breathe there for nine weeks of actual practice.

The dispensary for flowers for banquets, the greenhouse also allows practical application of studies of agriculture and biological science departments.

What below? Twelve buildings make up the 192-acre university farm, which serves as an agricultural laboratory, purchased by ISNU in 1857.

Terrill's temple is the scene of tender tutoring of freshmen women. Fell Hall is a true "home away from home" for the difficult days of the first year. A new wing and a fourth floor will soon increase the capacity of the residence hall.

The 1950 I.S.N.U. Freshman week got under way on Tuesday, September 12, when the Freshmen met with their County advisors before assembling in Capen Auditorium where the purposes, policies, and regulations of the University were explained. The morning activities were concluded with a tour of the Campus. Tuesday afternoon, social science and English tests were given. The freshman received his first idea of social life at I.S.N.U. at the Mixer in McCormick gymnasium Tuesday night.

Wednesday's activities included a general assembly at which the freshmen were told of the library and took reading and psychological tests. That afternoon they met with the deans of Men and Women and also with the department heads. Activities on Wednesday evening consisted of a sing and movie in Capen auditorium. Thursday morning began registration for the freshmen and this continued through the afternoon. Thursday night the freshmen were invited to attend open house at the various churches.

The upperclassmen registered on Friday. A freshman meeting was held Friday afternoon. Freshman activities concluded with a reception for new students on Friday evening and an all school party Saturday night.

And in the Gaiety of Homecoming

The Homecoming festivities started on Thursday night with a huge bonfire, pep session and snake dance which followed the opening night of "The Hasty Heart," the Homecoming play. Friday night, Barbara Lane was crowned queen of the 1950 ISNU Homecoming at the first of two dances. In her court were Doris Feeney, Betty Casner, Teresa Humphrey, and Marilyn Wertz.

Saturday's festivities began with breakfasts sponsored by the various organizations. The parade consisted of walking floats, mobile floats, and many bands. The parade honors went to Mennonite nurses for their walking float and the Business Education Club for their mobile float. House decoration honors went to Fell Hall in Class A and to 208 North School Street in Class B.

A huge crowd was on hand to witness the Redbird victory over Western. Following the game alumni gathered at the tent for coffee and doughnuts and for talk about old times. Saturday night Ray Pearl and his "Musical Gems" provided the music. Ben Bradley having brought his orchestra Friday.

Gamma Phi Circus

The same color typical of past shows was popularized once again as members of Gamma Phi presented the spring circus in McCormick gym before a capacity audience who thrilled with each daring antic of the participants.

Highlighting the show were the Meyer sister act of tumbling and the various high bar, tambo-line, and skating numbers. The university Pep Band provided appropriate music, and the setting exemplified a real three-ring affair.

Feature of the circus was the crowning of the Gamma Phi queen, this year Barbara Handy, and her court, including Sylvia Lemanski, Mary Alderson, Mary Margaret Cabalek, and Jane Hinshaw.

"So Long, It's Been Good To Know You" was the finale for the annual Blackfriar show presented this spring, and the encore reflected the attitude of the capacity crowd which saw the Friars cavort on the Capen stage.

Complete with the traditional Bull Moose chorus, the show sparkled with a new zest this year, adding such varieties as "John and Marcia" and painting done to music.

In outline form, the Blackfriar show traced by the use of standard introductions the development of vaudeville, radio, and television. Don McConkey, student director, appeared periodically to jest with the audience during curtain changes.

Agriculture

This is how they do it down on the farm, ISNU brand. The department of agriculture incorporates such theory courses as soils lectures with oadles of practical opportunities, home vegetable gardening, and small fruit culture.

Art

There may be Rembrandts among them; who knows? The Department of Art Education includes all phoses of artistic endeavors, such as painting, drowing, sculpturing, puppetry, pottery, lettering, and crafts.

Music

Whether you're interested in blowin' in a boss for the pep bond or brushing up on Brahms with the symphony orchestra, there's opportunity in the music department. Further activities include instruction in voice, conducting, and methods of public performance.

Daily Accomplishments of Departments...

Four semesters of English literature, a glimpse of American writing and a course in world lit, plus a briefer in English grammar equal a capital "E." You're an English major.

English

"According to the barometer it should rain about 2 tomorrow afternoon." Calculations such as this can be credited to a phase of the geography department program, which includes courses in geology.

Geography

Physical Science

General Inorganic Chemistry is just the beginning for physical science students. Included in the four-year program are such studies as agricultural chemistry, quantitative analysis, advanced thermodynamics, and wave motion and physical optics.

Social Science

So broad as to include history, economics, sociology, and civics, the Department of Social Science is one of the largest in the university. Students weigh facts in Labor Economics and Problems against American Diplomacy and The Community.

Speech

Dramatics, debate, and discussion all have their appropriate places in the speech department, where work includes use of microphones and tape recorders. Interesting among the courses are audiometric testing, modern continental drama, and The Anatomy and Physiology of Hearing and of Speech.

"I can build anything better than you" is probably true of Industrial Arts students. From drafting to metalwork, by way of machine shop practice, this department has recently added a safety and driver education program.

Industrial Arts

Whether you'd cube it or square it, the mathematics department would probably use the slide rule. From the introductory course of Arithmetic in Modern Life through the advanced Theory of Equations, the campus mathematicians are willing to make two and two equal the obvious.

Mathematics

Biological Science

Comparatively speaking, it's zoology and botany in the Biological Science department. With an eye on hygienic practices, this department considers the body, by way of anatomy, physiology, and endocrinology.

Business Education

In the Department of Business Education, the student has a choice in his specialized area: secretarial training, accounting and general business, accounting and law, distributive business, and general business.

Physical Education

It's all play, or so it would seem, for physical education students. Tinting this picture with "work," however, are the studies of anatomy and statistics, and the evaluations of skill tests.

Departments . . .

"Si." "Oui." "Ja." What? These are the chief departments within the Foreign Language curriculum: Spanish, French, and German plus "old-faithful" Latin. Reading "in the original" is among the educational experiences included.

Vidette

The biggest scoop of the year came in March!

For the first time in the archives of ISNU, the student newspaper was awarded "medalist," highest rating available for college newspapers, by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, for the year 1950. Slapping each other on the backs were the two responsible editors, Bette Soldwedel, who held the reins from January through August and Glenn Grever, who took the editorship in September.

With the production of the 8-page newspaper on a weekly basis, the fall term found the Vidette shifted to a Wednesday edition.

A busy year for the men of the Glee Club began with the club's appearance at all performances of the Homecoming play. After the initial showing, the Glee Club rushed through their final schedule, which included awarding of keys to members with four semesters of ninety-percent attendance participation. In addition, the clubbers made an annual spring tour of the state, visiting many Illinois high schools. As well, the Men's club aided in the presentation of the "Messiah" on campus at Christmas.

The men were able to broaden their annual program by several radio broadcasts over the local station, and they were well received in the annual spring concert presented in Capen auditorium.

The University Women's Chorus traveled to Clinton and to Cerro Gordo this spring to spread the musical word about ISNU.

On the trips to the high schools, Angele Taylor played a xylophone solo, accompanied by Neva Elaine Anderson. Ruth Borrer was the soloist with the group, while Jean Ann Kewley served as accompanist.

This large all-women's music organization joined with other campus groups to present selections from "The Messiah" at Christmas time and to present the spring music concert.

Further, the chorus was a part of the outstanding assembly programs, as it drew the "favorite" rating from many students.

UNDEFEATED IN REGULAR SEASON - -
I. I. A. C. CHAMPIONS PLAY IN CORN BOWL

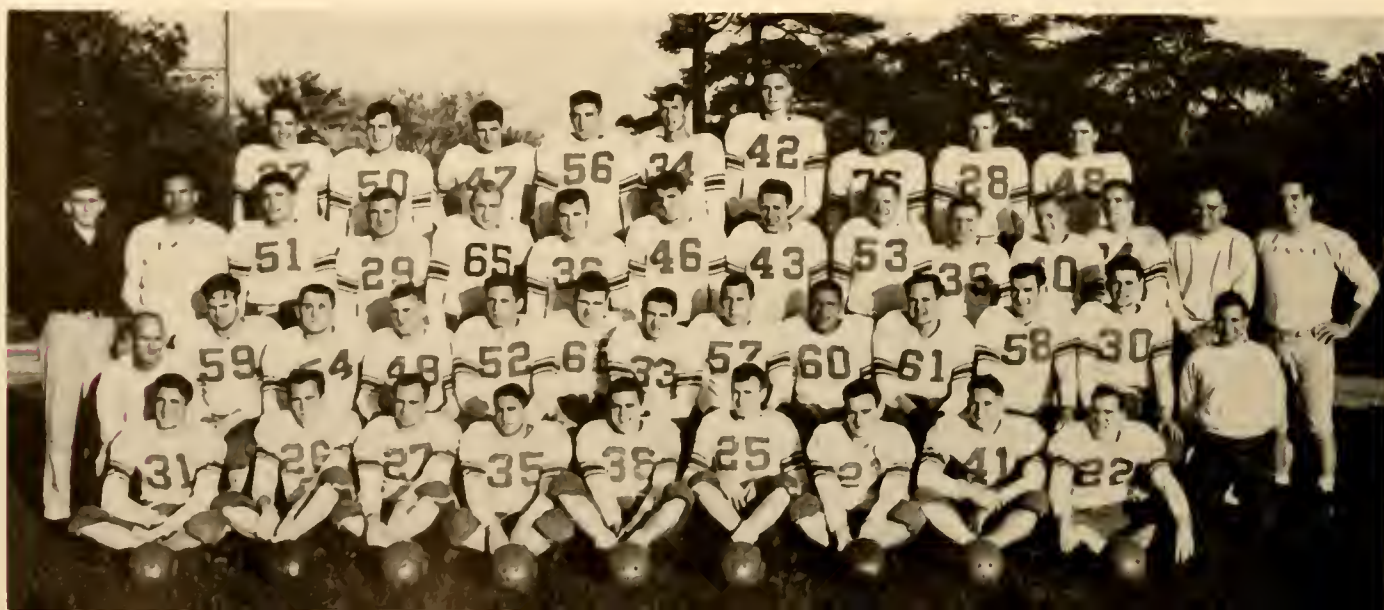

As the 1950 football season opened, the sports spotlight focused on a bustling town in southern Indiana where Illinois State was hoping to notch the initial victory of the new campaign.

Indiana State was the opponent, proving to be a very worthy one. The Redbirds of Illinois State did everything possible in a gridiron contest but crass the goal line, while holding the Sycamores to a scant 54 yards rushing and a scoreless tie. Normal rolled up 19 first downs to 5, and gained 250 yards on the ground, but on the other hand fumbled five times and had five passes intercepted. In a sense, Normal had lost a moral victory to the sophomore-manned Indiana State squad.

I.S.N.U. 28 — Millikin 0

Ed Struck's gridiron aggregation returned home to the shadow of Old Main to face the "white hope" of the CCI, James Millikin University on the 30th of September. The victory-flavored course they offered must have been rather savory, for the huge crowd that packed McCormick Field left licking their chops in satisfaction.

The Redbirds scored early and fast as they compiled two touchdowns before Millikin could run a play from scrimmage. Rager Lapan made a nice catch of a Cleon Fellows aerial for the opening counter while Dean Burridge raced nine yards for another. Second half tallies by Milt Kadlec and Darrell Spang made the game a 28-0 rout in favor of the Redbirds of I.S.N.U.

I.S.N.U. 14 — Central Michigan 13

Co-captain Burridge's artful toe provided I.S.N.U. its victory margin over Central Michigan in the first I.I.A.C. game of 1950, 14-13. The Redbirds scored first as Burridge nabbed Fellows' pass for a 55 yard touchdown in the opening minutes of the game. An intercepted pass and its runback of 60 yards tied the score. In the second half, the Herons marched 99 yards with the pigskin to take the lead, 13-7, but Normal's Kadlec plunged over from the one yard line with minutes left, and Burridge's second placement gave Normal its first I.I.A.C. victory. Jonas Lashmet and Ronald Beales turned in yeaman work on defense for I.S.N.U.

I.S.N.U. 23 — Charleston 21

A 2 yard field goal late in the third quarter was the deciding factor in the second I.I.A.C. game as I.S.N.U. nudged the Panthers of Charleston 23-21 in a hard-fought contest at McCormick field. It was just a case of whether Normal's ground attack could compete with Eastern's Ed Sorgal's passing, and the Normal offense proved the better. Dean Burridge and Milt Kadlec scored the Redbird touchdowns, and Burridge's educated right foot again provided Normal with its victory margin.

I.S.N.U. 14 — Southern 14

Normal journeyed to Carbandale for its third conference game and played a surprisingly tough Southern team to a 14-14 tie before the Maroon's homecoming crowd. A blocked kick set up one Normal counter as Ralph Lesnick deflected it, and Al Buckowich recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. Dean Burridge scored the other mark on an off tackle play. Southern's ace back, Call, pushed the Maroons into a tie with a one yard plunge late in the final quarter.

Homecoming

Illinois Normal 21 — Western Illinois 20 GAME OF THE YEAR

On October 28, 1950, undefeated Illinois State Normal University met undefeated Western State of Macomb in the Homecoming game at McCormick field. This was a football classic that will go down as one of the greatest sports spectacles of modern times in I.S.N.U.'s history.

The human interest in the game was far-reaching. Western had won 13 games in a row and was defending champion in the I.I.A.C. Normal was riding on 8-game undefeated streak, the last defeat having been to Western, 18-14. Coach Ed Struck had several veterans back who were grimly determined to turn the tide. On the other hand, Angie Marini, Pat Stoik, and Jack Landis were gracing the gridiron for Western far the last year. Western's unbeaten streak of 13 was in jeopardy. The leadership of the I.I.A.C. was at stake.

What could be the answer? What would happen when two such football titans met? Surely one of them would have to topple from the pinnacle of renown.

The answer was 58 minutes away. At the end of four quarters of bruising, shocking, bone-crushing football, of gallant, intrepid, lion-hearted play, of a thousand exultant thrills, the Redbirds of ISNU trudged off the field still undefeated. They had beaten Western's Leathernecks in the last 37 seconds, 21-20.

In winning, Normal had covered herself with glory. The Redbird line had done what had been termed the impossible. Fellows, Frank Chiado, and Milt Kadlec had combined their efforts for a total of 117 yards in the air and had set up all three touchdown passes.

Normal scored late in the first period, Milt Kadlec plunging over after a Fellows to Bebee pass had left the oval on the one-foot marker. Western retaliated quickly, however; Bob Nixon intercepted Dean Burridge's aerial and raced 39 yards to tie the score, 7-7.

The point that beat Western was the Homecoming game — right through the uprights.

Darrell Spang made a sensational catch on a Chiodo throw for the Normal University's second marker, but again the Leathernecks tied the game, Angie Marini crushing over from the one.

Marini put Macomb in the driver's seat early in the third quarter with a beautiful 55 yard thrust through center. Joe Beja, who had successfully kicked the two previous extra points, was wide on his try, and Western led, 20-14.

Co-captain Burrridge climaxed a 72 yard drive, slipping over from the one with only 37 seconds remaining in the game. Burrridge calmly boated his third point after touchdown of the afternoon, and the nearly 7000 fans who jammed McCormick field for the homecoming game let forth a burst of approval. I.S.N.U. had won the mid-season classic, 21-20.

Spang takes off against Eastern for a long gain.

BEAT NORTHERN FOR CONFERENCE TITLE; LOSE CORN BOWL GAME 7-6

Illinois State 14 — Michigan Normal 0

Amid the roar of the possible selection of Normal as the State of Illinois delegation to the Corn Bowl classic on Thanksgiving day, the Redbirds went sublimely on their winning way as they trounced the last place Michigan Normal team 14-0 in their fifth I.L.A.C. game.

All told, it was Frank Chiodo in a one-man scoring show. Chiodo scored both Normal touchdowns, the first on a one yard quarterback sneak and the second on a pass from Fellows. Burridge place-kicked both extra points.

Through the major portion of the game Coach Ed Struck kept many first team men on the bench recuperating from injuries.

Illinois Normal 13 — Northern 12

The sports question of the state was answered on November 12 at DeKalb, Illinois, Normal 13—Northern 12—and the Redbirds had won the first football championship of the newly revamped I.L.A.C. conference.

Despite the frenzied cheers of hundreds of the co-ed rooters, Chick Evans' Huskies, headed by Heimerdinger and Wickstrom, were unable to stall the steady ascending of I.S.N.U.'s victory star.

Burrige scored both Normal counters on line bucks and also received great offensive help from Cleon Fellows, Chiodo, and Kadlec.

Illinois State 21 — Wesleyan 0

Dr. Edwin Struck, the famous football practitioner of I.S.N.U., gave his brilliant group of gridiron interns their final regular season test at Wesleyan on November 18 preparatory to their Corn Bowl tilt a few days later.

Speed and power were the keynotes of the day as the Redbirds enjoyed their best offensive day of the season against the Titans. Darrell Spang paced the Birds with two counters, one a beautiful 36 yard sprint down the side-lines. Fellows scored the other TD while Roger Lapan and John McCoy were sensational offensively.

Missouri 7 — ISNU 6

The sky was overcast and the weather damp and raw as the Red and White of I.S.N.U. battled Missouri School of Mines in the 4th annual Corn Bowl tilt at Illinois Wesleyan stadium on Thanksgiving Day, 1950.

The cold temperature and the snow-covered field proved a great equalizer as neither team could develop its famed and feared running game. Normal's score came when the ever-alert Howard Eades clocked a Rolla punt. Roger Lapan advanced the ball to the one, from where Cleon Fellows, quarterback, sneaked the remaining distance. Burrige's placement was wide.

Rolla scored in the third period when Ed Kwadas plunged six yards to cross the goal.

President R. W. Fairchild presents Dean Burrigle with the Carter Harris Memorial Trophy for being selected as the Most Valuable Football Player on the 1950 grid squad. Dean's teammates made the choice of selecting him not only to receive this honor but also to lead them as one of the co-captains of the '50 squad.

Dean received the above trophy at the annual all-sports banquet held last winter. Later in the evening, he was also presented with the plaque designating that he was selected as the Most Valuable Player in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference for the football season of 1950.

Seated on Dean's right are co-captain Ralph Lesnick of the football team and Jerry Cunningham, captain of the swimming team.

This kind of treatment by Ray Cambani helped to win the coveted award.

Basketball

Starting his second year as Illinois State Normal's head basketball coach, James "Pim" Goff faced the season's opener with a cage quintet of undetermined quality.

It took but few games, however, for the Normal five to prove that the football team wasn't the only school squad that could win ball games. The initial contest might be regarded as a breather, but in that contest was shown the form that would later carry the team to its most successful record since 1944.

After scoring 72 points in their opening victory over Shurtleff, the Redbirds moved into faster company and tangled with North Central at Naperville. Glen Honsbruch flipped in 13 points, and Don Richard executed three beautiful hook shots to help produce a 57-53 victory.

With two in a row under their belt Goff and his netmen journeyed to Decatur, where Millikin's Scott Stegol personally and promptly removed the rose color from Normal's glosses with a 92-56 runaway victory.

The undaunted Redbirds withdrew to their own back yard, pushed out a 76-54 win over Eureka, and, convinced that they still knew how to win, awaited the Centenary game with new vigor. The Gents had to stall out the last few minutes to grab a hard fought 61-60 win.

Opening their IAAC schedule at home, the Goffmen made quick work of the two Michigan schools, Normal and Centrol, by scores of 61-55 and 71-58 respectively.

With such a satisfactory tune-up tucked beneath their belts, the Redbirds invaded Iowa and Indiana during the Christmas holidays. A red-hot Loras team bawled them over 82-61, and an even hotter Eau Claire five rolled up a 93-74 score. Big Bob Brenneman scored a total of 34 points in the two games to boost his rapidly rising total.

Refusing to crack from such setbacks, the Red and White cagers moved to LaCrosse to participate in a two-day, four-team affair. Playing the host team, an inspired Redbird team set the Indians on their heels 66-59. A respected St. Mary of Winona squad presented the next opposition and were humbled 69-52. Honsbruch and Tom Molloy were impressive.

The Normal quintet started the New Year off on the right foot, handing Wayland, Texas, a 71-59 beating at McCormick gym.

A terrific second half rally fell short as the Huskies of Northern took a conference from ISNU 70-65.

Eastern's mighty cagers had to sustain another drive before they went back to Charleston with a close 72-64 conference win.

The Goffmen could not cope with Western's press defense and fell 58-48 in their fifth IIAC game at Macomb.

Washington U. of St. Louis dealt the Redbirds their fourth straight defeat in the Missouri City, 57-54. Normal then cancelled one of her earlier deficits when she overrode Northern in a return conference match by a 77-67 count. Bill Sarver potted 19 points.

The "Sugar Creek" neighbors, Illinois Wesleyan, toppled the Redbirds in the first game of the series, 68-50.

Brenneman worked his "now you see it, now you don't" magic for 35 points and for a new all-time school record as Eureka fell 80-66.

Bud Glover hit 11 baskets to lead Eastern to an overwhelming win 94-62.

The Goffmen put the skids on Southern's ace, Tom Millikin, and came out on the long end of a 57-53 conference victory. Bill Sarver hit 17 points as the ISNU team moved up in conference standings.

Upon the invasion of Michigan, behind Honsbruch's 24 points Normal pushed out an 80-74 victory over Central Michigan but could not cope with Michigan Normal's Hurons, so fell 60-58.

Sarver hit 20 and Honsbruch 19, to lead Normal to their second win over Southern, 68-63. Again it was brilliant defense work on Millikin that paved the road to victory.

Captain Ran Hughes sinks a lay-in.

Bob Brenneman hits a hook against Wesleyan.

In the most thrilling game of the season, a last quarter outburst on the part of Honsbruch fell short, and Illinois Wesleyan took the two-game series by the scant margin of one point, 64-63. Hons took individual command of a Normal rally, making four baskets in a minute and a half, but time ran out before he could overtake the Titans.

In the season final, ISNU reversed a defeat by rushing all over Western, 75-70. Again it was freshman Billy Sorver, having his best night in collegiate basketball, leading the Redbirds with 26 points. Normal thus ended its most successful season since 1944 with 14 wins against 12 defeats.

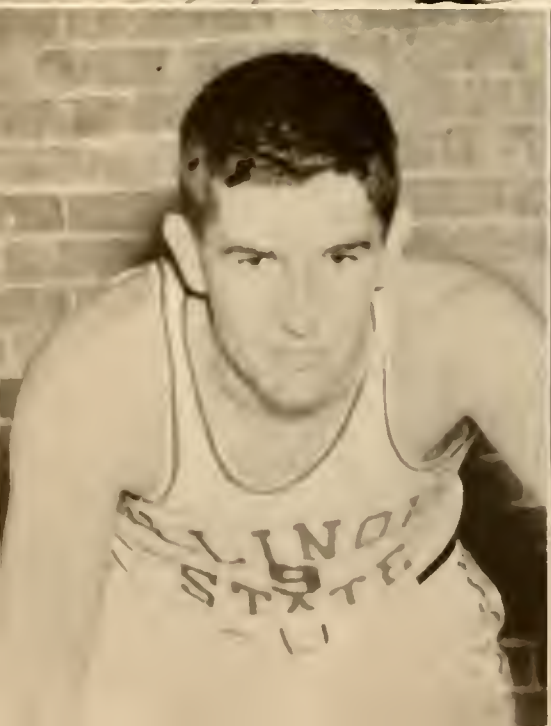

Glenn Honsbruch, Most valuable player.

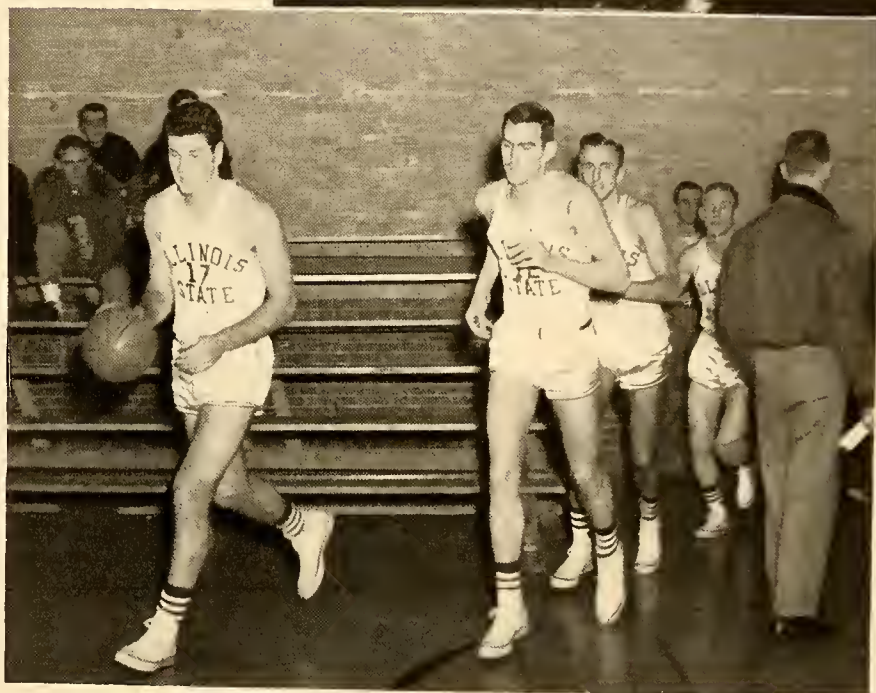

It was a banner year for the Normal coach and his players. Brenneman, of course, broke the all-time scoring record with his 35 point outburst. Honsbruch was the leading scorer for the second straight year with 410 points and fell just 5 points off the all-time four year scoring record, but has another year to add to his total. Sarver proved to all that he is one of the best shots in the business, while Captain Ron Hughes was a vital cog in the Normal machinery. Tom Mallay drew most of the guarding assignments and conducted himself in a magnificent monner. Al Austin and Don Richard were invaluable and were considered great as spot players in the Normal lineup.

B Team Basketball

The ISNU "B" basketball team, under Edwin Struck, completed the year by winning half of the contests on the twelve game schedule. They emerged victorious once over Eastern, Western, Bradley, and Chanute Field while also losing games to those schools. Perhaps the most impressive night for the Junior Redbirds was the one when they scored a runaway rout over their previous conquerors, Bradley's highly touted Braves. They lost an early season heart-breaker to Illinois Wesleyan by one point.

The players, who benefited from their play on the reserve team and from the tutelage of Struck, were Bill Blake-more, LeRay Eicken, Jack Gallagher, Darrell Garretson, Dick Gillen, Carl Hutchinson, Marvin Juhl, John Keegan, Bill Markwardt, Bob Nelson, Bruce Seeber, George Zigman, Sam Samorian, Jim "Banes" Janes, and Dan Trimble.

Wrestling

The 1950-51 wrestling season gave ISNU its fourth consecutive conference championship and the school its third conference title during the year, adding its name to the football and cross country trophies.

Ed Wilde, the 129-pounder team captain, had the best record of the entire squad, ending the season as the only undefeated member of the ISNU grapplers, and copping the conference championship in his division.

Closely following him was Roy Camboni, having his best year as a senior. Camboni lost only two matches, and he was the most improved wrestler on the team.

George Egofske, the "holler" boy of the squad, also had a very good record, adding the conference championship in the 157 weight division to his trophy from the Wheaton meet.

Wrestling coach Gene Hill confers with his assistant and one-time Normal great, Dick Rockenbach, on the 1951 mot campaign.

Ron Beales, injured in the early part of the year, came back strongly in the heavyweight division and proved himself very dear to the hearts of Normal wrestling fans.

Dan Judy and Ray Walsh shared the 121-pound spot in Hill's lineup throughout the season and both showed promise for next year.

In the 137-pound weight, Eudean Heald, intramural champion, started and ended the season, while Ben McAdams took over for a few meets during the middle of the year.

Don Maquet, wrestling in the 167-pound spot, placed second in the IIAC meet and had a fine record for the entire year.

At 177 pounds Hill used several men. Tom Frawley started the season at that weight. Frawley had the unique distinction of wrestling to four draws in his six matches. Frank Hines, the "handy man" of the squad, filled in when Frawley suffered an injury. Hines also filled in at the 147 and the 157-pound divisions during the season.

Tony Licocci, Ed Struck's linebacking fullback, won himself many friends with his performance in the conference meet at the 177-pound weight.

1950 Track

The old master, "Bloody Jae" Cogdal, didn't have one of his best records during the 1949-50 track and field season but did remarkably well with the material on hand. Of particular note was the development of several individual stors under Cogdal's tutelage, namely, Jacque Osborn, Bob Eudiekis, Ranald Beales, Bill Pomotto, Bob Perry, and Del Sweoringen. Osborn and Swearingen could be called the standouts because of their particular records. Osborn, this year's captain-elect, was the conference champion in the two mile and was also a consistent winner in the mile, while Swearingen in his freshman year broke an all-time ISNU record in the discus and shows promise to better his new record each time out.

Cooch Joe Cogdal.

Cogdal is looking for better things during the 1950-51 season because only Perry is gone from his conference point getters of last year. Several other old honds such os Bob Swift, Jim Garnett, Ron Davis, and Chuck Marler will also bolster his chances.

1951 Cross Country

While the Cross Country team did not live up to Coach Jae Cogdal's expectations, 1950 was still the kind of a year that almost any other coach in the thinly clad sport would be glad to own. Normal's cross country squad pushed several of the top teams to the hilt before bawling in big meets. Perhaps the most thrilling race of the season occurred in the Loyola Invitational where Jacque Osborn tagged on the heels of Loyola's Bab Kelly and fell just 10 yards short of overtaking him in the big race of the year. Bab Swift paced the Red-birds' harriers in the earlier part of the season, and his time in the first meet with Eastern was one of the best in the country at that time. Others who played a potent part in Normal's attack were Gene Wendland, Jim Gregory, Evan Shull, Jim Garnett, and Ray Rickert.

Baseball 1950

From all standpoints the 1950 baseball season at ISNU was successful from start to finish. Coach Harald Frye's starting lineup contained only four seniors, but the squad showed no lack of experience as it pounded its way through the season at a .500 clip.

The mound staff possessed a depth of strength that enabled Frye to keep a strong and well-rested flinger on tap for every contest. The roster itself, while loaded with former monogram winners, was also stocked with new and younger talent which will help make the Redbirds a diamond power for several years to come.

Mike Rzdski, the husky little hurler from Chicago, was easily the ace of the Irish mound staff, although Glenn Honsbruch led the team in victories. They were backed by Art Goreham, Jim Turner, Ed Bonczyk, and John Staats. Of this group, only Goreham will be lost to the 1951 squad.

Outfielder Herb Kaufmann and Co-Captains Bob Zubeck and Dick Baldri provided the big bats in the Redbird attack. Their booming, base clearing hits were largely responsible for the ISNU victories.

Canoes and rowboats are assessable for those so inclined on the WRA camping trips. Waterfront chairmen heed the safety of the rowers.

"Ah! Come on, yo big dumb bells, let's show 'em how Normal plays ball." Such was the frequent cry last fall as state teams and a couple from out of state fell before the ISNU Redbird gals in hockey extramurals played off-campus and on the South Campus area.

It was mighty cold for the opponents as ISNU ran rough-shod over 'em all in field hockey. The girls of the extramural squad triumphed over such noble teams as Milwaukee Hockey club, Iowa, and the Illinois delegations from Northern, Western, Southern, Eastern and Principia.

Sports

Into the bag with the club. Trudy Lawrence, Jeanne Putnam and Dorothy Beitsch pack up the WRA equipment as hockey season wanes in favor of equally popular basketball.

And there it is — field hockey. From the original bullie to the last "sticks" the sport is for the earnest participant and the good-natured opponent. Many of this year's matches were held in semi-darkness and frequent dampness, weather never permitting a beautiful day for the match.

It's table tennis, always one of the most popular and less strenuous of the intramural sports activities. WRA intramural table tennis spearhead this year scheduled the ladder tournament, featuring play in doubles and singles competition.

Women's

Straight as a pin, freshman Kaye Pierce leads the way in intramural WRA bowling, held for the first time this year at the Harkins Caliseum. Saturday mornings were devoted to the Strike and the Spare femme leagues, who alternated to permit as many girls as possible to participate in the fun.

They're indoors for the winter, and attentions are turned extra and intramurally to a sports favorite of the ISNU women—volley ball. ISNU teams this year were fairly successful in appearances before out-of-state and state foes.

Reach 'em over, Petey, and she always did. The intramural teams met the alumnae women of the health and physical education department in several contests this year, showing the older ladies that youth is a determining factor in the success of a sports endeavor.

Drop the birdy and smash ahead in badminton. This intramural activity was popularized to such an extent at the beginning of the winter session this year, that a record number of teams were included in competition.

Service is the one requirement for membership in Alpha Phi Omega. Essentially, the ISNU Theta Epsilon chapter is a type of scouting on a college level. All the members have a boyhood background in national Boy Scouts and are familiar with the creeds and purposes of this national organization.

The completion of a service project plus one semester of pledgship is necessary to become a member of the group.

Among the activities of Alpha Phi Omega during the year were the donation of blood locally, aid in guiding high school seniors on College Day, and aid for the University Club arrangements for Christmas vespers. A chief goal of the organization was assisting in the rebuilding of a local Boy Scout Camp.

The Beaux Arts ball is among the most-looked forward-to of ISNU formal dances, and the sponsorship of this event is the chief social activity of the Art Club.

Composed of majors and minors in the field of Art Education, the Art Club holds regular meetings with speakers drawn from off-campus. One of the highlights of such meetings this year was the presence of Robert Kilgore of the Illinois Wesleyan Art faculty.

After the business sessions of the meeting, the artists enjoy social dancing or movies, and carry out numerous art projects.

Among the projects of the club is the annual sales of Christmas cards painted, drawn, or sketched by the club members. A star in the crown came to the club this year when the walking float dragon drew a prize in the annual Homecoming parade.

Producers of the most popular school offering, the Blackfriars cavorted on the Capen stage this spring in perhaps their finest performance, climaxing four years of "bull moosing," slap-sticking, and dramatic creating.

The Blackfriar group is in existence for the primary purpose of encouraging creative talents in male students on the campus, and a selected membership runs about forty-five each year. Any student is eligible to try out if he has artistic, musical, or dramatic abilities.

Although the Blackfriars are remembered for their heckling initiations and their shady shows, apart from foolishness the organization has a scholarship awarded annually to some worthy student who would otherwise be unable to attend college. Proceeds from the 'Friar events are the component parts of this scholarship fund.

"Take a letter, Miss Jones." That's the way the business education club operates.

Interested in the promotion of all phases of business, the campus club studies new methods, listens to off-campus speakers, and holds regular meetings for all qualified students.

The Business Education Club boasts an active membership of 125 business education majors and minors, and this year began activities with an initiation at the University Farm.

Among the social activities and projects were the Variety show, a spring picnic for members and guests, a homecoming float, a carnival booth, the food donation to a charitable organization at Christmas, and homecoming house decorations.

The society tried to become acquainted with and maintain high standards in business methods and encouraged a social spirit by offering opportunities for wholesome social contacts.

From the beginning of the school year in September, when Episcopalian students were entertained at the home of Miss Dorothy Hinman, the ISNU Canterbury Club has attempted to encourage fellowship among the students of that faith on the campus.

Weekly evening prayer services with a series of talks on "God, the Holy Spirit" were held by the club during the Lenten season. These services were held at the Bloomington parish of St. Matthew's Episcopal church.

Throughout the school year, the club officers combined religious activities with social events. Off-campus speakers were secured for the regular club meetings.

A Christmas party and spring picnic were chief among the social activities.

As well, the campus organization conducted an all-school straw vote on the November election, aided in campus elections with the ballot counting, and was held responsible for the administration of the Normal city government for a half-day.

The College League of Women Voters came into existence on the ISNU campus in 1926 when it was known as the citizenship committee of Women's League. Under the same leadership, the president of the league serves as citizenship chairman for the Women's League executive board, aiding in the integration of a campus all-women's organization.

The Women Voters, composed of all women students of various ages, aimed this year to foster interest in government and political affairs and to produce the type of citizen desirable in the furthering of democracy.

With a membership of over 200, the members held a Homecoming luncheon, sponsored a Christmas party, and sent a representative to the State A.C.E. convention.

The Elementary Club was founded in 1942 by combining five elementary clubs into one great organization.

A panel discussion of the plays "The Innocents" and "As You Like It" sparked the November meeting of the English Club, following a field trip to Chicago earlier in the year where the group saw the plays.

Various students in the club took charge of the meetings held during the year, at which times varieties of programs of a literary nature were held, many with off-campus speakers.

At Christmas the club celebrated with its own party, after which the members carolled at the homes of English department faculty members. An evaluation of magazine reading was done in the spring.

The English Club is open to any English major or minor, with no grade requirement. Any other student of the university with an interest in contemporary literature is invited to join the organization.

Mais oui, the French Club brought a bit of extra-curricular flavor to the foreign language departments this year, when it was revived after several years of inactive status. And this flavor was climaxed literally at the club's French dinner, which was held in February at the home of Mary Esther Stone. Club members asked for third helpings of crepes suzette, which cooks from their own group had prepared. The menu also included onion soup, French bread, pate de foie gras (a goose liver paste to eat on crackers or bread), coffee, and Camembert and Bleu cheese.

Informal conversation in French was carried on at the club meetings, which were held on the first Monday evening of each month.

The McMurray Chapter of FTA has gained in recognition as a junior member of the Illinois Education Association during the year, through such activities as the initiation of a Streator High School FTA club by the local organization.

One of the largest social functions of the year was a Saturday meeting of state high school groups with the college organization, held at ISNU in February. The group held sessions during the day, climaxed with a luncheon at Fell Hall and an evening banquet.

As special projects, the FTA has worked closely with the county contact representatives and the alumni office. Members have recruited the best and most outstanding high school people for the teaching profession.

Hanging virtually from the very ceiling of old McCormick, bouncing and flipping around on canvas, playing every physical activity imaginable, members of Gamma Phi thrilled a "packed house" in their annual spring show.

A co-educational gymnastic fraternity open to anyone on the campus, Gamma Phi members swung and flipped through many agile performances in the Bloomington-Normal area.

Organized in 1928 as a men's organization, but admitting women in 1940, Gamma Phi exists to promote gymnastics among the student body in the surrounding communities. Anyone able to meet the requirements as formulated by the organization is eligible for membership in the society.

Following the performance of the 19th annual circus, the gymnasts replaced the floral crown of their queen in moth bolls, along with the familiar blue trousers and white and blue initialed shirts of the members.

Just exactly what shape do you think the world is in? Literally, the members of Gamma Theta Upsilon discuss just such questions as the above at their regular coffee sessions in North Hall.

Composed of majors and minors in the field of geography, Gamma Theta Upsilon is a part of a national organization consisting of twenty-six chapters. The local unit was organized in 1928, known as Alpha Chapter.

Requirements for admittance to GTU are based on student scholarship, with the chief item requiring six hours in the field with an "A" or "B" average in geography courses. The social program of the organization centers around the monthly coffee hours where prominent speakers from off campus are obtained for lectures.

Other special activities during the year were a Homecoming banquet for alumni members, a Christmas party, and a spring picnic.

A little bit of flour, not too much lemon, and heaps of sugar spell a strange but sweet potion to introduce the Home Economics Club.

The Home Ec students, majors and minors who participate in monthly sessions of the club, study principally interior decoration, the use of cosmetics, food processing, and other topics of particular interest to homemakers.

Further pointing up the program was a joint meeting with Home Economics students from Illinois Wesleyan University, where across-the-creek activities were discussed.

Any major or minor in Industrial Arts Education may become a member of the Industrial Arts Club, which during this year had an active membership of 60 students.

The IA sought continuously to develop a professional spirit in its students in the arts and to cultivate a stronger departmental spirit.

The chief service of the club to the ISNU students as a group is the publication of the official Student Directory. The students are responsible for every phase of the production, from name listing to actual type setting. In addition, the IA members participated in homecoming events, in the Women's League Carnival, and in the men's intramural sports program, and offered a scholarship in Industrial Arts to a needy student.

To increase the understanding among races, the Intercultural Club planned a year's program based on student interest.

The club's chief goal is to develop better understanding among the world's people by studies of groups and nations and by social meetings between ISNU students. Anyone interested in cultural contributions of the various races is eligible for membership.

The social calendar of the club for 1950-51 included the alumni reception during Homecoming week. Sparking the programs of the group were such speakers as Dr. Florence Teager, ISNU teacher recently returned from a year's teaching in England, and the Rev. John Logan, who spoke on the history of Scotch poetry, then recited some.

Seifu Zelleke, a student at Illinois Wesleyan University, spoke on the customs relating to the education process in his native Ethiopia.

Open to any major or minor in the field of Industrial Arts Education, the honor society Iota Lambda Sigma places a grade requirement on those seeking membership. The students are required to have a "B" in all Industrial Arts courses, and they must show promise of future usefulness.

Although still a youngster among the honor societies at ISNU, Iota Lambda Sigma, in its second year as a recognized group, has participated in virtually all school-wide events during the year and has organized a broad program of its own.

Speakers interesting to members of the group were drawn from off-campus for the regular club session, and members of the organization had private projects of industrial arts nature during the year.

The club initiates undergraduates, graduate students, and members of the faculty.

"The Winslow Boy," before a receptive Capen audience, was the tear-jerking, thought-provoking, well-done Jester play for 1950-51. The Jesters graced the ISNU stage again in the spring as they acted to a rollicking audience in "The Devil and Daniel Webster," for the Jester assembly contribution. The Jesters gave the latter production for visiting high school seniors on ISNU College Day, also.

season was a club trip to Chicago, where they saw "The Innocents," and Katherine Hepburn in "As You Like It."

Membership requirements in Jesters state that the student must have one major credit; he must go through a pledge period and initiation services. The necessary credit may be earned through crew work or participation in one or more plays. They hold two initiations each year and membership is open to anyone who meets these requirements.

A national sorority in education established to recognize the scholastic endeavors of women students, Kappa Delta Epsilon carries out various educational projects during each year.

Among the activities of the club this year were the gathering of toys and games for needy children at Christmas time and the sponsoring of an essay contest in the spring. Working with the national organization, KDE members encouraged the short story contest, basing the plot on teacher education. The winning story was sent to the state and national organizations to compete in these contests.

In addition to a series of talks by off-campus speakers at the regular business sessions, KDE sponsored social events of its own including two initiations, one in the fall, the other at mid-semester.

The sorority welcomed alumnae members at Homecoming with a coffee hour.

The brain trust — Kappa Delta Pi, organized "to encourage high professional, intellectual, and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education" — pursued various academic avenues this year.

Following a Homecoming luncheon, the 1950-51 year featured discussions on educational problems, a series of outstanding speakers, and informal meetings. In addition, KDP devised a loan fund during the year, available for senior members of the organization.

The scholastic honor society is open to all juniors, seniors, and graduate students, with these entrance requirements: 60 semester hours of credit at ISNU with a honor point average of 2.4, or, for graduate students, 12 hours of ISNU-earned credit, with a 2.6 honor point tally.

Each year, KDP presents at the annual convocation services a "Sophomore Medal" to the highest ranking sophomore student. Last year's medal was awarded to mathematics major Thomas Johnston.

Requiring a general grade point average of 1.5, Kappa Mu Epsilon, honor society in mathematics, further commands its members to have had at least five math courses, with only one "C."

Organized to further interest in mathematics and in the appreciation of its beauty, to provide a society for the recognition of students in mathematics, and to bring them together in fraternal relationship, the honor society was founded at ISNU in 1933.

Among the social events of the year were the following: the annual Homecoming breakfast for alumni members, a Christmas party for campus students, and the annual spring initiation banquet.

Since the organization of the Illinois Alpha chapter, ISNU has added 362 students and alumni to the national association of Kappa Mu Epsilon.

As regular as clock-work, the Latin club members whipped over to McCormick in time to set up their traditional "Hades" for the Women's League carnival. Further, the social program of the Latin Club included a fall picnic for members as their first meeting back on campus and a Roman Banquet in the spring.

Membership in the organization is based on an interest in Latin as a language and in the study of the Roman civilization. Students interested in membership arrange with other members of the organization for activation.

Impetus was given to the Latin Club program by the addition of a graduate program in Latin.

Although the club was unable to win official recognition by the university because of the crowded club calendar, the Library Club swelled its newly organized ranks during the past year.

About mid-semester, the librarians defined themselves as the Milnerites, an additional honor in memory of the late Ange Vernon Milner, for whom the ISNU library is named.

Meeting off-campus most of the year, the Milnerites studied new library methods, delved extensively into new books on the market, and learned about library management in general from the university librarians.

Sprinkling the campus soon after the beginning of the fall semester were strange looking students sporting four-foot posters attached to their necks and dropped down their backs. These students also were garbed in non-reversible clothes that had been reversed.

The occasion? Lowell Mason initiation services! For music majors and minors, Lowell Mason serves as the extracurricular activities organization with emphasis placed on all phases of musical participation.

The group held spring and fall picnics, entertained alums during Homecoming festivities, arranged all school parties, and sponsored a winter musical performance.

Bringing together the Lutheran students on the campus for devotional and recreational activities, the Lutheran Club sponsored Sunday afternoon Bible classes throughout 1950-51.

One of the important activities carried out by the religious organization was the annual Lenten season services held on campus. In addition, the Lutheran club prepared an entry for the Homecoming parade and entertained alumni with a Homecoming program.

Lutheran club has a membership of approximately fifty students, with membership based on a desire to increase knowledge of the Christian faith.

Among the other activities included on the social calendar were cost suppers, and skating parties, plus Christmas entertainment.

Under the sponsorship of C. W. Hudelson, the Grangers brought together the two departments, in an attempt to keep alive the rural social customs which both home economics and agriculture students will face upon graduation.

With membership open to any interested student of the university, the Grangers had the following officers, in addition to the standard equipment listed: Carol Bateman, Pamona; Peggy Hoffman, Ceres; Del Donahue, gatekeeper; Ivan Burris, overseer; Wilma Yehrke, steward; Lois Baumgartner, assistant steward; Ivan Dremann, chaplain; Melvin Nannen, lecturer; Ettabelle Alexander, Flora, and Loretta LaCost, lady assistant steward.

Dean Burridge became the center of the N Club spotlight this spring as he was awarded the "most valuable player" trophy for IIAC competition. The trophy was presented at the annual N Club banquet held in the winter at Fell Hall. The evening's entertainment included speeches by various present and former athletes, their coaches, and faculty members, as well as the offering of a movie on physical education.

A major social activity for the campus was sponsored by the N Club this spring, with the advent of the annual formal dinner dance. In addition, at all athletic contests, the club sponsored concessions, of benefit to the students and of financial assistance to the club.

All majors, letter winners in any varsity sports activity are eligible for membership in the N Club.

Two major field trips this year sparked the outside activities of the Nature Study Club. Both held during the spring, the first tour was to Urbana, where the group viewed the Natural History Survey there. As the end of the semester was in sight, the Nature Study students again boarded ISNU buses, this time bound for Starved Rock and a study of the plant and animal life there.

The Nature Study Club is one of the largest in the Science department, drawing students with an active interest in the out-of-doors. The group endeavors to promote further interests of the students and to open broader views of outdoor activity.

During the past year the Nature Study group has brought outside speakers to regular monthly meetings with special features, including a Christmas party. Their entry won third prize for house decorations in the Homecoming activities.

A question box on Catholic doctrine and practices was a valuable project held by the Newman Club during March. As a part of the regular meeting, the question box served to answer problems or questions of the Catholic students, with the Rev-Monsignor B. J. Sheedy of Holy Trinity church in charge.

The Newman Club, available for all of the 450 campus Catholic students, draws an active participation of well over 200 for monthly meetings.

During the past year the Newman Club sent delegates to the National Newman Club Federation at Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, in April and held two social events following the Easter holiday.

Among the social events of the club was the annual Homecoming breakfast, as well as the special Christmas gathering. The club held Communion breakfasts and a May Day supper.

Organized to promote modern dance on the campus and to provide opportunities for creative expression through dance, the ISNU Orchesis group has been a campus organization since the '20's. It is nominally a branch of WRA, but operates independently as to finances, constitution, and general conduct of activities.

For the second year, Orchesis divided into two groups: a senior (honorary) group, mainly concerned with composition and public performance, and a junior (beginner) group learning dance techniques and skills and gaining experience in simple composition problems.

During this year, Orchesis members participated in a winter dance symposium at the University of Illinois, and performed with skill their "Dry Bones," "Exits and Entrances," and "See Me Low" in the Capen spring concert. Finally, the group went to Delavan in mid-winter, where it performed for the Junior Women's Club there.

Traditionally, Philadelphia shares honors with Wrightonia as the campus' oldest organization. Co-sponsoring the annual contest between the "Phils" and "Wrights," the Philadelphia Society further organized a walking entry for the Homecoming parade, provided a concession at the Women's League Carnival, and joined Wrightonia for an annual party.

Offering an opportunity for all students to further musical or literary talent, Philadelphia selects its members from those who try out. Student members of the society serve as try-out judges. One-half of the student body has nominal membership and may petition for active association.

The Philadelphia Society provides an integrated program for its members, with the varieties including musical, dramatic, or literary talent.

With more than 120 majors and minors in women's health and physical education included in the membership, the Women's Physical Education Club this year was hostess for the Victory Hall boys' Christmas party, given in McCormick gymnasium.

In addition, the physical education students participated in the stunt show, entered the Homecoming parade, gave a Homecoming luncheon, were hostesses for a senior breakfast, and sold sports guides and notebook covers for the benefit of students.

The chief purpose of the organization, in addition to actual participation in sports activities, is to provide leadership for majors and minors in P.E. In addition, the club hopes constantly to supplement professional growth of the members and to unify the students as to goals and purposes.

Dedicated to the furtherance of interests of students and faculty in the Social Sciences, Pi Gamma Mu Chapter at ISNU planned a program for the varied interests of its members.

Following a fall initiation service held in the Student Lounge, Pi Gamma Mu heard Dr. Florence Teager speak on her experiences at an English university. A Christmas party staged in Old Main was followed at the turn of the semester by midterm initiation.

The local group is a part of a national association for social science majors or minors. Students are eligible for membership in the honor society who have a "B" average and a minimum of 20 semester hours in the field with no recorded failures. The society initiates undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members.

Organized for those persons who have participated in the Intercollegiate Forensics, Pi Kappa Delta, honor society, aimed at the promotion of speech activities on the campus during the year.

With ISNU holding the distinction of being the first Illinois teachers college to install Pi Kappa Delta, the group brought home top honors this year. An example: they won "superior" in a spring visitation to Denver, Colorado.

A Forensic reception and a tea for visitors at the 19th annual Invitational debate tournament, held at ISNU, were among the social events for the speech honor students. Members of the group were able to participate in the national Pi Kappa Delta tournament held at Oklahoma A. and M. College, Stillwater, Oklahoma, during spring vacation.

A 2.2 average in commercial courses as well as a 1.5 average in all other courses is a basic requirement for admission to Pi Omega Pi, nationally affiliated society for business education majors or minors.

In addition, prospective members must sport a minimum of fifteen hours of credit in business and five hours in education courses before they are eligible.

While monthly meetings of the organization centered largely about discussions on problems of some perplexity for business education students, the social activities of the group included a Homecoming luncheon for former members of the club as well as a field trip.

The ISNU chapter was established in 1928 in order to recognize loyalty, service, and progress.

Open to all students in any area of natural science, the Science Club limits its membership to 40 persons, with selections based on invitations.

The only organization of its kind serving the two fields of biological and physical sciences, with the exception of the more specialized Nature Study Club, the Science Club includes among its activities topics of broad natures, in order to satisfy the diverse interests of the club members.

Membership in the club is drawn from such departments as mathematics, home economics, physical science, geography, agriculture, biological science, and elementary education. In addition to being a major or minor in one of the mentioned areas, a student is required to have a "B" average in his particular field, with accompanying high standing in other courses.

group on the place of periodicals in the modern age.

Sigma Tau Delta sponsors publication of The Triangle each year, this year including a special high school section. The magazine is financed in part through an annual all-school booksale held in Old Main. Books contributed by faculty members and local people can be sold to students at low rates.

Sponsoring several of the "most stupendous" activities on the campus — the Homecoming parade and the floor show for the Women's League Carnival — the Social Science Club came through during the past year.

With over 100 members, including social science majors, minors, and other interested students, the organization achieved its purpose: to promote and maintain interest in the social sciences. One of the outstanding programs was a combined panel on "Do We Need a New International Organization?" in which ISNU students exchanged opinions with guests, members of the Bloomington-Normal branch of the National Council of Social Sciences.

A Christmas party, an early fall picnic (especially designed to introduce freshmen to one of the campus' most active organizations), and informal sessions sparked the club's social stage.

And thank you, as well, Spanish club, for fostering interest in and understanding of Latin American culture.

La Estudiantina is open to anyone on the campus with a speaking knowledge of Spanish, and the linguists further propose to offer opportunities to converse and grow in the knowledge of Spanish language.

One of the chief features of this year's program, which developed as a result of the three year existence of the Spanish club on the ISNU campus, was an inter-language Christmas party, held with members of other campus groups. Further, the La Estudiantinas provided a dancing booth at the Women's League Carnival, a popular innovation, and held the annual observance of Pan-American Day here.

One of the most newsworthy clubs on the campus was the Special Education Club, which this year was able to set up new quarters for meetings in the rooms of the spacious Special Education building.

With the full-scale operation of the new building, the only one of its kind in the world, the Special Ed Club increased its membership, its social and educational program, and its place in campus leadership. Special Education students heard state speakers on topics related to the field, investigated new methods for the treatment of children needing special treatment, and held regular business sessions.

The club continued its three-year service project with the children of the community by leading recreational activities for eight-to-fourteen-year-olds at the Bloomington YMCA.

Almost from the time the fee statement was stamped paid, the ISNU student council swung into action, first in governing the activities of Homecoming. After the big event, the council recommended that further snake dances be discontinued on the basis of this year's outbreak of "violence."

As the year progressed, the Student Council carried out various programs, one of the greatest and most far-reaching of which was the redecoration and renovation of the student lounge located in Old Main. The council purchased new furniture, ordered the walls redone, and smiled with pride when the job was finished.

Representatives of the council attended several conventions during the year, including the Midwest Council convention at Madison, Wis., in November, and the National Student's convention at Wauwatosa, Wis., in April.

All men registered in the university, 1100 strong, are members of the University Club. These are their four-fold purposes of the organization: providing for social welfare and fraternal fellowship among men students of the university; making school spirit most worthy of the student body; cooperating with other organizations in promoting wholesome activities; and working with the administration in policy-making.

The University Club shares responsibilities with Women's League in various activities, including arrangement for all Big Four dances and in the production of Campus Cues, freshman handbook. The U. Club further is responsible for the Christmas afternoon vesper program held in Capen auditorium.

During the year the club held a stag, which was a crowd-drawer, and an athletic booster on Dad's Day. Also, the organization sponsored informal and formal parties, entered the stunt show, and divided work on Mother's day affairs.

The foundation tries to supply a "home away from home" for the students of the organization. The group provides an over-all program which includes spiritual and social needs for the 82 regular members.

One of the largest banquets in Women's League history marked the 25th anniversary of the organization on the campus. The dinner, held in the dining room of Fell Hall this spring, drew over 200 present members, past presidents, sponsors, and faculty members for a night's reminiscing.

Carrying on the integrated program between all other women's organizations on the campus, Women's League divided itself into an executive board (to carry on the business activities), a Central Board (to plan and sponsor the Carnival), an Honor Council (to establish a Big Sister system), and a House Presidents Board (to bring unity among the various off-campus houses for university women).

House Presidents Board drew an average attendance of 60 to each of the meetings held at Fell Hall, while the annual Carnival, held for the first time in mid-winter, brought a record number to the gym for the gala evening.

Providing a social and recreational program for all women on the campus, the Women's Recreation Association this year crowded playnights, coke hours, sportsdays, teas, picnics, and camping trips into a busy week-by-week agenda.

Under the guidance of the executive board, which handles the bookwork, a sporthead board arranged a calendar of sports activities in every area, under the guidance of intramural chairman Patricia Meyer. New to the WRA program was a dance clinic sponsored successfully this spring for high school youths in the ISNU vicinity; social activities, including the climactic banquet, were geared by Jean Putnam.

WRA continued to provide a leisure center in the form of the WRA room at the women's gym. An attractive bulletin board, decorated periodically, served as a spot for channeling information on all WRA activities.

A companion with Philadelphia society holding title among the oldest campus organizations, Wrightonia Literary Society strives each year to encourage the musical, dramatic, and literary abilities of all students on the ISNU campus.

Like Philadelphia, all students enrolled in the University become eligible for membership, with active participation following a nominal period, during which prospective members try out before the veteran crew.

Wrightonia, through its monthly meetings, brings off-campus speakers for discussions and works on the annual clash with Philadelphia. The literary society participates in other all-campus projects such as the Women's League Carnival and the homecoming festivities.

"To realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God" is the meaning behind the university YWCA.

The ISNU group of the YWCA is distinguished by being the first college group ever organized, with its history dating to 1872. Throughout its years of existence on the campus the YWCA has broadened its program of Christian teachings to satisfy the general religious needs of all ISNU women.

The "Y" holds bi-weekly meetings in the White Room, located on the basement floor of Old Main, while social affairs are carried off campus. This year the activities included a get-acquainted tea, a walk-out breakfast, a Homecoming sunrise service, a 'mum sale for Homecoming, a recognition service, a Christmas party, a spring banquet, and various community affairs.

Who's Who

 Second row: Anno Dobrik Neumann, Rose Meyer, Doris Feeney, Shirley Leigh.
 Third row: Bill Francis, Eugene Berwanger, LaVerne Changnon, Bob Gustofson.
 Fourth row: Don McConkey, Gene Wendland, Bob Horton.

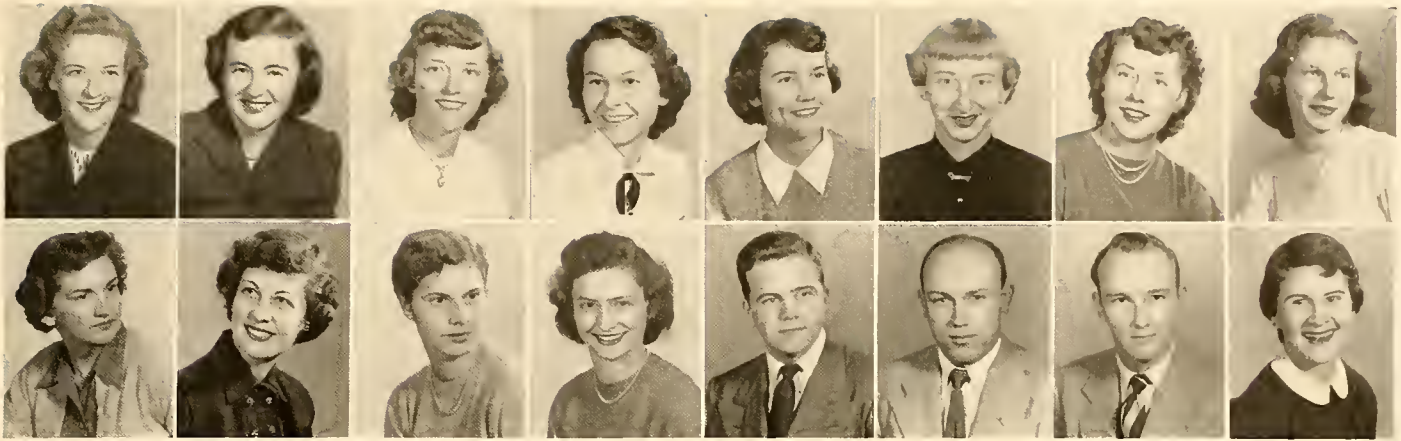

For the first time in recent years, students of outstanding merit were recognized nationally through the publication "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Thirty students from ISNU were selected for representation in the national publication, and they are all leaders in diverse organizations on the campus. Generally the students were chosen for high scholarship, outstanding contributions to the campus life in general, and significant leadership displayed, as well as for likelihood of further merit and usefulness.

The ISNU students selected from the senior class and graduate department, included Kenneth Darr, Bette Soldwedel, Audrey Grupe, Rose Meyer, Dorothy Beitsch, Betty Krummrich, Barbara Lane, Jacque Osborn, Robert Horton, Bill Francis, Don McConkey, Hildegard Fosse, Richard Baldrini, Shirley Leigh, Dean Burridge, Charlotte Caudle, Eugene Berwanger, John Dal Santo, Anna Neumann, Doris Feeney, Glenn Grever, Robert Gustafson, Wilbur Johnson, Tom Johnston, Charles Kurtz, Harold Meisinger, Rudolph Pedrotti, George Riemer, LaVerne Changnon, Merna Yount, and Gene Wendland.

A Sincere "Thank You" to . . .

Mr. William F. Tull and G. R. GRUBB AND COMPANY of Champaign for engraving.

Mr. Edward J. Bryan and the PANTAGRAPH PRINTING AND STATIONERY COMPANY of Bloomington for printing and binding.

Mr. Harold F. Beckett, Mr. V. T. Montague, and the Kingscraft Cover Division, Chicago, of KINGSPORT PRESS, INC., of Kingsport, Tennessee, for covers.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Watchinski, Mrs. Barbara Hobart, and the rest of the staff at the CAMERA CRAFT STUDIO of Normal for photography.

Mr. Nelson Smith, University photographer, who furnished all of our building pictures as well as some of the pictures on the pages devoted to music, special education, and student teaching.

Miss Vermell Wise, faculty sponsor, who never hesitated to add the pasting of pictures and the cutting of proof to her advisory duties when time and help were scarce.

Mrs. Mary Parker and Miss Alta Day for helpful advice on problems of art and business, respectively.

Members of the Index staff, who suggested, criticized, laughed, argued, sympathized — and worked.

Dear Edna,
 Wishing you the best of luck. Hope next year you don't leave to shout as loud as we did this year with
 Mrs. Mitchell's quiet girls.
 Barb Wolf

Dear Edna,
 It sure has been fun living here this year with you - especially since you could spy on Ewe for me. Thanks too, for the pay. notebook. Have a nice summer and I'll see you again next year for the "Big" senior year.
 Margot

Dear Edna
 It's sure been swell living with
 you. I'm waiting for next fall when everyone comes back.
 Joan

Dear Edna, it won't be long before I'll be with all the folk so I can't wait next year so
 Be good this summer and I hope to see you next year. Will be in in April. I take Foundations
 Love, Caroline

Dear Edna -
 Here's to a local Lutheran Clubber. May your college and professional days ever be a huge success!

Dear Edna,
 I hope you are well and happy.
 Love,
 Anne

Dear Edna,

Best wishes to you always. Thanks millions for everything you have done for me. I'm glad you will be here both semesters next year!

Sincerely,
Emma

Dear Edna

It has been a very secondary education. I'm a man, not a man.

Best wishes to a wonderful friend.

Elaine Nelson

Edna,
Well we got through another year. Mills and all. It's a pleasure to be in the same classes with you but have pity on a poor
student like myself.
Geoff Thomas

Dear Edna,
Will you ever
forget that Geometry course! We sure had fun working on it
with all our implements of war! Have a nice summer & I'll see you
Meeting Monday

Well! here we are at the end of another Math course together. Let's hope we both survive.
Phil Kenebry

Dear Edna,
To a fellow
sufferer of Survey
Good luck on this final. Have fun next year
-and don't give Emma such a hard time.
Wilma Martin
